

All of the above sit inside the sphere of a Van De Graaff generator, except for the external wifi router and things connected through it.